

Radiant spark of a Smile

You light up the room with the sparkle in your smile.

The radiance of it is intoxicating while being as cathartic as the calm before the storm.

And I cannot lie

Looking at you is worthwhile.

Crush me,

End me,

Kill me,

With just your smile.

Ramblings of a Bipolar

Woke up thinking
Which suit should I wear
Black or Blue
Decide my fate for today
Who will drive this mad mind of mine
Cause my engine of thoughts
is in sixth gear racing on an
Asphalt of incoherence
Tangents spreading like
Branches on a poplar tree...
And I scream at my lush mind
"Hush!"
While my mind burns like
The burning bush
And unlike Moses
I see lightning wrapped
In a blanket of darkness
I see no godly commandments
Only roses in flames
Or is it a Wack melody of insanity
Which may be pretty lame
Cant begin to share
My thoughts
Why though?
Cause I am...
Covered in a
Thick blanket of shame
I get a warm
Sharp pain in my heart
But I would Rather,
Have a soft tarp of actual confidence
On this crumbling house
I call my soul
Then...

Conversation with the Universe

I ask you O sky

Your greyness

Resonates with my desolate

Mind

Why?

I ask you O power above me

Why do you play with

My fate and my faltering

Faith in you

Answer my prayers

Answer me...

Because I feel like

I am on the brink

Of death itself
