It is a direction, not a destination.” - Carl Rogers Psychology Is Fascinating. Is there anything more interesting than the amazing and sometimes bewildering ways that people think, feel, and act? At the heart of so many disciplines lies the desire to better understand who we are—as individuals, as societies, and as a species. Psychology delves right into the very depths of this yearning for knowledge and seeks answers to some of the major questions that we all share. Who are we? How did we get this way? Is it possible to change? Psychology can offer us insight and answers. Psychology is a vast ocean of knowledge and this quiz helps in testing that knowledge. It will help students to work on their knowledge at an interdisciplinary level involving different subjects and getting to know about their knowledge of psychology.
