Diplomacia

Amity Institute of International Studies

---

Diplomacia is an attempt to comprehensively test the wide-ranging and in-depth knowledge, analytical skills, and persuasion power, and the ability to assess the difference between theoretical and practical actions of individuals in a competitive, yet fun-inducing format.

The event, titled with the Spanish word for for “Diplomacy”, Diplomacia, aims to give people with an interest in International Relations and Politics a platform to exhibit their knowledge and skills.

Event Guidelines

1. Every institution can send upto 5 participants
2. Medium of expression shall be English
3. Since the event shall be conducted through video conferencing, IT SHALL BE MANDATORY for the participants to have their webcams open throughout the duration of their speaking and rebuttal.

Event Guidelines

“How can we, as India, take over China?”

The participant is required to prepare a presentation of 8-10 pages, presenting and defending their idea of how India could win over China:

- a. Politically
- b. Diplomatically
- c. Militarily

The participant is expected to present facts and actions the country would take, and predict an outcome for 8-10 years from now.

Event Guidelines

The participant will be required to make a 10 minute presentation on their theory and course of action, and defend the same. They will be judged on the basis of their eloquence, their knowledge and research, the practicality of their theory, and an assessment of their analysis of the international sphere.

10 participants will be selected for the second round. These participants will be sent the presentations of the other 9, and will be given 10 minutes each to critique them, and defend their own theories.
