ABOUT CONFERENCE

The "1st International Conference on Forensics, Security & Law (ICFSL-2024)" is an event poised to explore and discuss the cutting-edge advancements in forensic sciences, global security, and the legal challenges that define our contemporary world. In the 21st century, where science and technology have rapidly transformed every facet of life, this conference recognizes the inseparable interplay between crime, criminology, and a myriad of related disciplines. Our aim is to provide a platform that transcends traditional boundaries, fostering collaboration and understanding among experts, scholars, and practitioners from diverse fields.

In alignment with the evolving landscape of crime prevention, our conference adopts a multidisciplinary approach to address the complex challenges faced by modern society. The overarching theme of our conference, "Advancements in Forensic Sciences, Global Security & Legal Challenges," underscores the critical role played by forensics, security, and law in the pillars of our contemporary criminal justice system. We invite researchers, policymakers, and professionals to join us on this journey as we collectively shape the future of criminal justice, promoting social justice and striving to build a safer, more equitable world.

EVENT OBJECTIVES

Participants would be able

- To comprehend real time cases and assimilate global security, forensic investigation, and discuss pros & cons from legal context.
- To discuss recent advancements in forensic sciences, global security, and law.
- To provide in-depth knowledge in different instruments required for examination of various evidences (physical, chemical, biological, medical, questioned handwritings/ signatures, fraudulent documents/digital signatures and digital & multimedia exhibits, etc.).
- To understand application prospects of forensics sciences, global security & law in real time scenarios.
