One Week Faculty Development Program On "Innovations In Andragogy for Higher Educational Institutions"

The one-week faculty development programme (FDP) on Innovations in Andragogy for Higher Educational Institutions in Online mode was conducted by Amity Business School, Amity University Madhya Pradesh from June 4th, 2024 to June 10th, 2024.

Innovations in andragogy, the practice of teaching adult learners, are transforming higher educational institutions by addressing diverse learning preferences, technological advancements, and workforce demands. Blended learning and flipped classrooms offer flexibility, while personalized learning paths and competency-based education cater to individual needs and prior experiences. Collaborative and social learning emphasize peer interaction, supported by mentorship and coaching programs. Digital badges, micro-credentials, and advanced learning management systems enhance recognition and engagement. Inclusive education principles and lifelong learning opportunities ensure accessibility and relevance, collectively enhancing the educational experience for adult learners.

This FDP was specifically designed for the faculties and research scholars to provide them insights about innovative teaching methodologies through the integration of technology, personalized learning, and practical applications. More than 50 faculty members, research scholars across India registered for the workshop.

The objective of a faculty development program on innovations in andragogy for higher educational institutions is to equip educators with the knowledge, skills, and tools necessary to effectively implement modern teaching practices tailored for adult learners. . By participating in this program, faculty members will be empowered to create more dynamic, effective, and accessible educational experiences, ultimately improving student outcomes and satisfaction
