

Message

It is a matter of immense pleasure and honor for me to extend a very warm welcome to all dignitaries and delegates for the International Conference on Automation, Computational and Technology Management (ICACTM-2019) being organized by our Amity University in our London Campus.

Amity Education Group has always been a visionary think tank focused on research & innovation and is today at the forefront of globalization with foot prints in more than twenty countries & collaborations with over 350 International Universities of repute.

With an aim to create much needed perspective and expertise in constantly evolving trends & practices of automation & computation, Amity University Greater Noida (AUGN) has taken a revolutionary step to organize this conference as another milestone in its constant agenda to take huge leaps to nurture industry relevant academic research.

Amity University has evolved as a rapidly growing higher education University across the Globe and is actively engaged in creating an eco-system to promote original research with a strong application focus in multi-disciplinary areas.

In addition, this prestigious event of our academic calendar has a sincere aim to provide a platform for useful deliberations for both industry and academia as they share their knowledge and practices in the fields of automation, control, engineering, management, life sciences & applied science.

In the current era, the growth in the autonomous decision-making process is encouraging the researchers and industry to provide suitable solutions and interfaces for genuine state of the art applications. This leads to tremendous opportunities for all the stakeholders to come together, collaborate, complement and supplement the efforts of each other. The recent advances related to “Engineering & Technology in Management” to be discussed in the conference will provide an excellent opportunity to the delegates to identify some new research area in engineering disciplines and computational data generation to undertake interdisciplinary initiatives that will be fruitful in their future research endeavors.

I appreciate the overwhelming response which this conference has generated throughout India & abroad and hope that it enriches all with many contemporary ideas, revolutionary thoughts and understanding of the best practices from around the globe.

It would not have been possible to hold such a mega event, without the untiring efforts and singular determination of the dedicated team of our Greater Noida campus. Their commitment and resolve are indeed appreciable.

Our Founder President Dr. Ashok K Chauhan and Chancellor Dr. Atul Chauhan join all of us in extending their gratitude to all the participants of this conference for sharing our journey of enlightenment and propagation of doctrine of knowledge.

Prof. (Dr.) Gurinder Singh
Conference Chairperson
Group Vice Chancellor, Amity Universities