EVENT OVERVIEW

The Debate Competition was organised by Amity Institute of Social Sciences as a part of the of International Women's Month Celebrations.

The event was conducted on 25th February 2022 in the MDP hall, located in the F block by student coordinators Mohini Sahu and Aresh K Chowdhury under the guidance of faculty coordinator, Dr. Sanjana Sharma Marwaha.

The motion of the debate was: This house believes that gender equality will never be fully achieved. The competition consisted of 12 participants across different courses.

The debate kick started with a melodious recital to god by Kuberdita Raj followed by a brief introduction to the judges. The debaters following this made the competition an enthralling watch with their fiery arguments and critical thinking.

ABOUT THE THEME

The aim of the Debate Competition was to arise a constructive discussion and debate on how gender as a paradigm affects the society as a whole and what can be done to achieve gender equality as a reality or will it just remain a dream.

The event consisted of passionate debaters around the university who came together with interesting arguments and view points to prove their side of the house.

“Gender equality must become a lived reality” said Michelle Bachelet.
